The Latin phrase “ero cras” is a medieval acrostic based on seven liturgical antiphons. What is the 15th century hymn still in use today that is based on these antiphons that makeup this acrostic?

PASTORS, ADMINISTRATORS, PAROCHIAL VICARS

Most Catholics have grown up in parishes where the terms pastor referred to the priest primarily responsible for the parish, and assistant pastor or associate pastor referred to his assistants. Sometimes the term curate was even used for the assistant pastors, derived from the French cure (meaning "one who exercises care of or cure for the souls"); in France, cure actually designated the pastor, while in England and America, it designated his assistants.

Since the 1917 edition of the Code of Canon Law, and especially since the promulgation of the 1983 Code of Canon Law, the technical terms used and becoming more familiar are pastor, parochial vicar and administrator.

Examining the meaning of these terms. The bishop appoints the pastor as "the proper shepherd" of the parish. (The word pastor in Latin means "shepherd.") The pastor, mindful that he is to exercise his authority as an extension of the bishop and in the example of Christ, the Good Shepherd, must care for the souls of the faithful entrusted to him. He must fulfill his duties to teach, to sanctify and to govern the faithful with the cooperation of the priests, deacons, religious and lay members of his parish. These duties include the preaching of the Word of God in its entirety; delivering catechetical instruction in the truths of the faith in accord with the magisterium of the Church; fostering charitable works and promoting social justice; encouraging prayer within the home and the parish through good devotions; evangelizing those who have left the practice of the faith or those who do not profess the true faith; and most importantly, nourishing the faithful through the sacraments, particularly through frequent reception of the holy Eucharist and penance. A special emphasis is placed on the pastor's obligation to provide for the Catholic education of his people, particularly children and young adults, and ensuring that the most holy Eucharist is the center of parish life. In all, a pastor must be a priest "distinguished for his sound doctrine and integrity of morals, and endowed with a zeal for souls and other virtues".

When a parish is "vacant," meaning that the pastor has retired, been transferred to another assignment, or is incapable of exercising his duties as a pastor, the bishop must appoint as soon as possible a parochial administrator. In general, an administrator has the same duties and scope of authority as a pastor. The bishop in time may decide to appoint the administrator as the pastor. One interesting note here: a bishop may transfer or remove an administrator at any time; whereas, a pastor does have certain rights protected by canon law which could cause some "intrigue" in the interactions with his bishop.

In larger parishes, parochial vicars are assigned by the bishop to assist the pastor in the care of the faithful. The office is defined as follows: "Parochial vicars are priests who render their services in pastoral ministry as co-workers with the pastor in common counsel and endeavor with him and also under his authority". Given the size of some parishes, parochial vicars are often essential in helping the pastor fulfill his obligations for the spiritual and temporal welfare of the parish.

While pondering these terms — pastor, administrator and parochial vicar — and their "job descriptions," all of the faithful should pray for their parish priests each day that they may be good priests who reflect in their lives, Jesus, the true, eternal Priest.

Saint Cyril of Alexandria

June 27

Saint Cyril was born in 370 and lived a monastic life. He was ordained a priest and succeeded his uncle as bishop of Alexandria in 412. he had a preeminent role at the Council of Ephesus; he fought bravely against the doctrines of Nestorius, and wrote many learned works explaining and defending the Catholic faith. Cyril died in 444.

Saint Irenaeus

June 28

Saint Irenaeus was born around the year 130. Educated at Smyrna, he became the disciple of Saint Polycarp, bishop of that city. In the year 177 he was ordained a priest at Lyons in France and shortly thereafter was made bishop of that city. He composed works defending the Catholic faith against errors of the Gnostics, and it is said that he received the martyr's crown around the year 200.

Saints Peter and Paul

First Martyrs of the Church of Rome

June 30

In the first persecution against the Church, begun by the emperor Nero after the burning of Rome in 64, many of the faithful were tortured and slain. The pagan writer Tacitus testifies to these events in his worked the Annales, as does Clement, bishop of Rome, in his letter to the Corinthians.

Saint Thomas the Apostle

July 3

Saint Thomas is remembered for his incredulity concerning Christ's resurrection from the dead. When confronted by the risen Lord, his disbelief gave way to belief and he proclaimed the Easter faith of the Church: "My Lord and my God!" He is said to subsequently preached the Gospel to the people of India.
